FPS Foundation Executive Director Retires

FPS Foundation Executive Director Dr. David Pinkall has announced his retirement, effective December 31. Pinkall, a retired FPS Administrator, has led the Foundation since shortly after its formation in 2003. During that time the Foundation has grown into an important player in its support of the Fremont Public Schools. Foundation projects have provided well over 1.3 million dollars of support for the District, including the purchase of defibrillators for all buildings, the purchase of digital projectors for all core classrooms, and the purchase of iPads for all public elementary schools. In addition, the annual Creative Teaching Grant program provides nearly $10,000 worth of grants to teachers each year, and the Academic Achievement Banquet honors top FHS scholars each year. All are accomplished through the use of private funds, donated by individuals and businesses. The Foundation has also provided a pathway for gifts for special projects to flow to the District. Over 35 restricted flow-through accounts managed by the Foundation funnel private funding to special areas. Some of the areas receiving gifts through the Foundation include each of the school sites, the vocal arts department, visually impaired department, the elementary counselors department, the girls basketball program, the welding project and many others. In addition, several funds to provide assistance for families in need of clothing, shelter, and school supplies are housed at the Foundation.

Pinkall noted that it has been gratifying to participate in the growth of the Foundation from its beginning as an organization with few funds, and no ongoing programs, to where it is today. "The infusion of private funding into our school system is essential if we are to remain competitive with the neighboring suburban school districts. We have a strong board, and a positive leader in our Superintendent Mark Shepard, and I look forward to watching the Foundation continue to grow in the future. It's all about keeping the Fremont Public Schools strong for our students." ★

Sajevec to Assume Foundation Leadership

Joe Sajevec, former Fremont High School principal, has been named as the new Executive Director for the Fremont Public School Foundation. Sajevec, who served as FHS Principal from 2001-2012 assumes Foundation duties effective January 1st and is excited about being part of the Foundation. "The potential to help the students of Fremont Public Schools is a great opportunity, and very exciting for me to be a part of."

Jennifer Benson, Foundation Chairperson, noted that the Board was pleased to be able to find a new director with existing connections to the Fremont Public Schools. "Our Foundation works so closely with the School District, it has been a great advantage to have a Director with those connections, and we know that Joe will be able to continue and expand that important relationship, as well as our relationships with the community and alumni." ★

Joe Sajevec

From the Executive Director's Desk

For those of us in Education, the main thing is always about the students, and for me, as the Executive Director of the Fremont Public School Foundation, that has always been the case. That's good, because as one of my favorite pastors always says, "it's important to keep the main thing the main thing."

As I write this final commentary, however, I'd like to expand on some of the reasons for supporting public schools that go beyond helping children to be successful. I've never witnessed a great community that didn't have at its core a great school system. I think sometimes we forget what good schools bring to a community. Good schools bring good educators who become leaders in important community organizations. Good schools create a workforce that helps to attract business and industry to a community. Good schools attract families to live within a community. Good schools provide artistic and cultural events within a community that would otherwise not occur. Good schools take care of all children, regardless of race, creed, disabilities, language barriers or financial status. Good schools create a sense of community pride. For those of us who are fortunate to live in a great community, supporting the public schools is like giving a gift to our selves.

I'm thankful to have had the privilege of working for a great school system in a great community. I'm also thankful that under the leadership of Joe Sajevec, the work of supporting this great school system in our great community will continue. It has been my pleasure to be a part of this endeavor, and I look forward to watching the Foundation continue to grow as it keeps the main thing the main thing, and supports the students of the Fremont Public Schools. ★

FPS Board of Education Goals

Goal-setting in education is, and has been a common practice for schools, but many may not be aware of the role played by the Board of Education in setting and monitoring goals for the entire school district. In his recent updates at the end of the first quarter, Superintendent Mark Shepard discussed the goal-setting process followed by Fremont's Board of Education, and the impact that it has on the direction of the District. "In November 2014, the Board of Education adopted nine Board/District Goals. The Goals deal with all areas of our operation and provide a roadmap towards success in creating a higher performing school district."

According to Shepard, goals for the District are reviewed and updated yearly, and at each board meeting at least one of the Board's nine goals is reviewed for progress. While some of the goals deal with budget and financial issues, the Board has also identified goals in areas that may have a more immediate impact on students in the areas of school culture, instruction, and school activities. Shepard concluded: "The Board of Education/District Goals are measureable, time sensitive and achievable. They offer direction and create a prioritization for positive change within the District."

FREMONT BOARD of EDUCATION GOALS

Graduation / Dropout Rates

Fremont Public Schools will achieve a 90 percent graduation rate by the graduating class of 2018 across all populations.

Career Technical Education

Fremont Public Schools will research and develop career-ready programs that best serve the students of Fremont Public Schools while partnering with local businesses and industry.

Student Grading Policy Revision

Through a collaborative process, develop a researched based grading practice PreK-12 that focuses on student learning and is based on content alignment to learning standards.

Student Achievement

Fremont Public Schools will increase student performance for all students in core curricular areas.

Increased Achievement by English Language Learners

Increase the percentage of Fremont Public School's ELL students who are proficient in the areas of reading, writing and mathematics.

Budget / Finance Strategies

Develop budget and financial strategies to limit expenditure growth and maximize revenues creating a balanced budget with current funding.

Participation of All Students in General Education Programs and Curriculum

Implementation of initiatives started through the application of federal funding during the 2010-2011 school year will be continued and monitored to achieve improved performance of special education students as indicated by new state assessments, criterion referenced assessments and/or informal reading inventories. Progress will be made toward creating more inclusive classroom environments.

Development of Proficiency in Appropriate Social Skills and Behaviors

The objective of social skills training focused to assist children and youth in establishing responses to complex social situations and actively demonstrate the means of functioning in ever-changing social environments will continue.

Continuous Improvement Process-Building Goal Setting-Interventions-Periodic Evaluation

The function of a district-wide systematic and documented approach in buildings and programs is to establish a clear and understood method of planning and action that provides greater accountability and understanding by and for all participants. ★

FIT AMERICA PROJECT NOW AT MILLIKEN PARK

The Fremont Public School Foundation has once again served as repository for a Fit America grant, this time at Milliken Park Elementary School. This is the third such project supported by the Foundation, the first two being at Fremont Middle School and Linden Elementary School.

Children at Milliken Park Elementary and the surrounding neighborhood may soon notice increased physical fitness thanks to the new equipment provided by community organizations and a national non-profit.

Fremont Health, Fremont Area Community Foundation, Project Fit America and Fremont Public Schools combined their efforts to create an exemplary fitness area. The project is a continued introduction of Project Fit America's Official Nebraska State Model and pilot program which began in 2002.

Project Fit America is a nonprofit organization that builds sustainable physical education programs in schools, including state-of-the-art equipment designed to address areas where children fail fitness tests. Besides the outdoor equipment the programs includes indoor mobile fitness equipment, lesson plan support materials, core curriculum, teacher training and testing and evaluation.

Students who are tested before and after participating in the program demonstrate a significant increase in fitness. On average students participating demonstrated a 23 percent increase in upper body strength and a 13 percent increase in abdominal strength.

Research has shown that physical education not only promotes good health, it can play a role in a student's academic success as well. ★

Unique Sensory Courtyard Dedicated

A unique facility, dedicated to providing unique opportunities to stimulate the senses, was dedicated in August in the Lenihan Addition of the Main Street Education and Administration Center. The project is the brainchild of Mary Robinson, FPS Teacher of the Visually impaired.

According to Robinson, the main purpose of this one-of-a-kind courtyard is to provide unique learning opportunities to stimulate the senses: Sight, Sound, Smell, Touch and Taste. Students have opportunities to actively participate in hands-on educational experiences that are not available in the traditional classroom. Some examples of items found in the Sensory Courtyard are: mirrors to examine, reflecting lights to gaze at, wind chimes to listen to, a water feature, objects with a variety of textures to feel and touch, actions to experience cause and effect and plants and herbs to taste and smell. When students with special needs are exposed to these types of activities on a regular basis they become more productive learners in the classroom and increase successful outcomes.

The Sensory Courtyard's Snoezelen Room has a calming effect on those who enter. The dim room with reflective fiber optics, bubble tubes, objects illuminated onto a side wall by a film projector, ball pool, interactive technology, soft furniture and music is relaxing and allows individuals freedom to independently explore. Snoezelen Rooms have been used for those with disabilities including autism, dementia, Alzheimer's and other behavior disorders. Research indicates that after visiting such areas, students return to the classroom more focused, less aggressive and prepared to work.

Robinson worked tirelessly for the last three years to raise the funds necessary for this project, which came in the form of tax-exempt private donations made to the FPS Foundation. ★

A quiet reading room called the Hobbit House is part of the courtyard.

Peterson, Sajejic Co-Chair Annual Campaign

The annual campaign for the Fremont Public School Foundation is currently underway, with FPS Foundation Board Members Jennifer Peterson and Lori Sajejic Serving as co-chairs. The annual campaign is important for the Foundation because it provides the funding necessary for yearly operations. While the Foundation receives thousands of dollars in donations each year, most are designated for one or more of the 35 restricted flow-through accounts maintained by the Foundation. These accounts allow patrons to make tax-deductible donations for specific programs within the Fremont Public Schools. All accounts are overseen by the Foundation Board to ensure that the donations go to only the program for which they were intended. Unlike some foundations, the FPS charges no fees for managing these accounts, which insures that 100% of the dollars donated for specific programs goes to the intended program.

The flip-side to this way of doing business, is that since no service fees are assessed for managing these accounts, the Foundation must raise funds each year in order to cover the operational costs of running the Foundation. Operational costs include things such as secretarial help, printing expenses, postage, and reimbursement for services of the Executive Director. Historically, the printing and mailing has been responsible for about 75% of the yearly operational expense.

Lori and Jennifer invite you, as a Fremont Public School supporter, to make a tax-deductible donation to the annual campaign as a means insuring that the important work of the Foundation continues. For those receiving the Cornerstone by mail, a handy gift envelope is enclosed. For those receiving the Cornerstone online, donations can be mailed to the Foundation office, or made on line through the Foundation website at <http://fpsfoundation.com/>. ★

Jim Ebers Golf Classic

Participants in the Jim Ebers Golf Classic enjoyed a great day of fun and golf at the beautiful Fremont Golf Club. This was the twelfth year for the annual event, which was hosted this year by former FPS Administrator Gary Bolton. The eighteen teams consisted of a cross-section of Fremont Public School supporters, and the winners of the three flights included teachers, administrators, coaches, financial advisors, accountants, alumni and many business partners of the FPS. The last Friday in July has become the annual date for this fun affair, which supports the operation of the Foundation. It's a fun way to support the ongoing operation of the Fremont Public School Foundation. ★

Jim Ebers Golf Classic participants are lined up and ready to go!
