Fall 2012

Johnson Crossing Opens Its Doors

Fremont's newest school, Johnson Crossing Academic Center, opened its doors to 674 fifth and sixth grade students when the fall term began in August. This unique grouping of early adolescent students under one roof is not an entirely new concept to Fremont. From about 1923 to 1939, all sixth grade students in Fremont were served at the old high school building at 8th and Main Street, in what would now be called a 6th grade center. When that building was demolished to make room for the Industrial Arts Building, the sixth graders were moved to the elementary buildings, where they were served until the current Middle School opened in the fall of 2003.

The Fremont High Building built in 1889, served as a sixth grade center from 1923-1939.

While school configurations are often related to available space, the current movement toward grouping students by age offers many advantages for students. Middle School Principal Gale Hamilton, who oversees both the Middle School and Johnson Crossing, says that the unique emotional needs of early adolescents are much more easily served when not mixed with more mature high school students, and/or less mature primary-age students. He also believes that the playing field is leveled for students as they mix with students from across the community, rather than just with students from the homogenous neighborhoods served by the smaller elementary schools. Assistant Principal Brent Cudly, who is the on-site building administrator for Johnson Crossing, says that the delivery of curriculum in a combination of self-contained and departmentalized settings provides a good transition for students as they move from elementary to high school.

Unlike the building used as the 6th grade center earlier in Fremont's history, the Johnson Crossing building is designed and built specifically to accommodate the needs of 5th and 6th grade students. FPS Superintendent Steve Sexton has noted that in this day and age of rapid technological change, it is important for schools to have the capacity to adapt quickly to technological advances as they occur.

The infrastructure of Johnson Crossing was designed and constructed specifically for that purpose. Cliff Huss, FPS Director of Information Services, pointed out that the cabling included as a part of the infrastructure of Johnson Crossing should be sufficient to handle several new generations of technology upgrades. In the meantime, the students are enjoying a building that was designed for their needs, rather than a hand-me-down high school building from an earlier era. ★

From the Executive Director's Desk

Here at the Foundation, one of the many things I'm thankful for is a supportive, forward-thinking Board of Directors. They are successful, bright, well-informed people who share the best interests of growing the Foundation in order to help make the Fremont Public Schools everything that it can be. For some of us senior citizens, that sometimes means reminding us that the world is changing, and we need to change with it. Such is the case with the move toward increasing our use of the electronic media (internet,

Foundation Golf Outing Draws a Big Crowd

A full slate of golfers enjoyed a perfect day at the Fremont Public School Foundation's 9th annual golf outing, played on July 27th at the beautiful Fremont Golf Club. Teams of FPS supporters representing FPS alums, parents, faculty and businesses competed in the 4 person scramble for prizes. This year's overall champions were typical of many of the teams, made up of players from the FHS classes of 1992 and 1994 along with FPS community supporters. Make next year the year you join in the fun! The date for the 2013 outing has already been set for July 26. ★

Foundation Provides Support for Special Projects

Cornerstone readers may not be aware that the Fremont Public School Foundation provides support to a number of special projects by serving as the window through which private donations are made. These are projects which are not specifically headed by the Foundation, but by other groups interested in providing support for specific projects taking place within the Fremont Public Schools. Donations to two recent projects are listed in the Bricks and Mortar section of this publication. One project is the Sensory Garden in the Lenihan Addition, which serves the special sensory needs of sight-handicapped individuals. This project has been lead by Mary Robinson, who teaches in the visually impaired program, and is an Orientation and Mobility Specialist. The other such program is the V.O.I.C.E. Program (Vocal Opportunities Increased with Community Support), which is a fund founded by the Choir Boosters organization to provide additional support for vocal music in the Fremont Public Schools. The common thread among these organizations, and other similar ones, is that they provide financial support to help keep the Fremont Public Schools strong. The funds all come through private, tax deductible donations made to the Fremont Public School Foundation. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of improvements are made each year, without reliance on taxes. ★

Project Fit America Funded Through Grant to Foundation

The Fremont Public School Foundation was recently awarded a $14,000 grant by the Fremont Area Community Foundation. Project Fit America will provide physical fitness equipment and curriculum for Johnson Crossing Academic Center and Linden Elementary School. The project is a joint effort of the Fremont Area Medical Center and the Fremont Area Community Foundation. The cost of the equipment, accompanying curriculum material, and training for Physical Education Teachers ($15,900) will be provided by the Fremont Area Medical Center. Installation costs ($14,000) will be provided through the grant from the Community Foundation. ★

Lundstrom Family Gift Supports Elementary Libraries

For Betty Lundstrom (Nelson), a long time teacher at Lincoln Elementary School, teaching children to read and to love reading were among her highest priorities in education. After her death, her family wanted to find a fitting way to honor Betty's dedication. The answer came through a gift to the FPS Foundation for the purchase of library materials for all FPS elementary media centers. As a result, the latest Golden Sower Award winning books have been added to the collections in each of Fremont's Elementary Schools. Thanks to memorial gifts of family and friends, Kristy Lundstrom Dunlap, and her son, Chris, for making possible this meaningful gift to Fremont's children! ★

Foundation Moves Toward Increased Connectivity

In an effort to stay connected with a greater number of FPS supporters, the FPS Foundation is moving toward increased online connectivity. The Foundation Board is encouraging the move as a means of connecting with the increasing numbers of individuals, particularly more recent FHS graduates, who rely solely on internet connectivity as a means of communicating. As pointed out by Foundation Board Chairperson, Jennifer Peterson, "recent graduates of FHS are much more likely to read information online than through traditional media sources."

The move will be gradual, and has actually been underway for several years, but the time has come for the movement to be accelerated. With the rising costs of printing and postage, it also makes good fiscal sense to move toward the use of electronic technology to disseminate information. ★

Benson Replaces Ebers on Foundation Board

Long-time FPS Foundation Board member Jim Ebers has retired from the Board due to health issues. In his letter of resignation, Ebers expressed his hope that the Foundation will continue to grow and prosper in the years ahead. His replacement is Jennifer Benson, who is Vice President for Private Banking and Executive Trust Officer at the Fremont National Bank. Jennifer and her husband, Barry, have three children. Her two older children attend Clarmar School, and the youngest will begin school in 2014. Jennifer says that she is honored to serve on the FPS Foundation Board. "Our family is committed to Fremont, and to the importance of having a strong public school system." Welcome to Jennifer! ★

Cornerstone Already Available Online

Cornerstone readers may not be aware that all Cornerstone editions are available on line at the Foundation website at <http://www.fpsweb.org/foundation/>. For those readers who prefer to receive their Cornerstone in this way, all they have to do is send in their email address. They will then simply be sent an email notification letting them know when the Cornerstone is available for downloading from the website. Another advantage of using email is that smaller, more timely bits of information can be sent out more frequently to those who subscribe to email. Simply email the foundation at Foundation@fpsmail.org to be placed on the email mailing list. ★

Annual Campaign Kicks Off — Local Businesses Lead the Way

The Fremont Public School Foundation's Annual Campaign is now underway! Board Chairperson Jennifer Peterson noted that the annual campaign provides funding for the operation of the Foundation Office including supplies, salaries and printing expenses for Cornerstone. "It takes a minimum of $30,000 to cover the costs of operating the Foundation Office for one year. The campaign goal has been set at $40,000, with the intention of also providing additional support for the updating of technology within the district. The integration of new technology, such as smart boards and Ipads, continues to provide a financial challenge for the District to keep current with the latest trends.

Three Fremont Banks have already led the way with major contributions to the campaign. American National Bank, First State Bank, and Fremont National Bank have demonstrated their dedication to the work carried out by the Foundation through "Patron" level donations. ★ smart phones, etc.) as a tool that can make our Foundation stronger. One of our concerns has been how we can keep in touch with the approximately 300 new alumni of the Fremont Public Schools who graduate from Fremont High School each year. The answer is pretty obvious. These young people communicate electronically. If we want to communicate with them, we need to utilize their means of communication. So in this edition of Cornerstone you will see that we are asking our technologically savvy readers to send us their email addresses. It is our hope than many will do this, and we can embark on a new era of communication with you. We've already made Cornerstone available on the Foundation website, and plan to expand the use of the website. One of our board members even suggested to me that I should take to tweeting information to our constituents on a frequent basis, rather than putting out a twice-a-year newsletter that is largely old news by the time the readers receive it. I think he's probably right, and I have no doubt that's the direction we are headed, but we want to be sure that in the change process we continue to make it possible for those who prefer to receive their mail from the Postal Service to do so. Amid all this looking to the future, we are engaged in our Annual Campaign, and I hope that our generous readers will support us with a tax-deductible donation to enable the good work of this foundation to continue! ★
